BUILD WELLS CHANGE LIVES

1 Our in-country partners engage with the communities they serve to identify the areas with the greatest need for water.

2 The partners determine the most suitable locations for the communities. A proposal is developed for funding to support between 20 and 45 wells for each program.

3 Every proposal is thoroughly reviewed to ensure acceptable costs and construction timelines.

4 We work with churches, individuals, schools, businesses, and others to raise funds to build the wells in each program.

5 Once the proposal is signed, the funds are sent to the partners to begin the process of implementing the program. This process can take 18-24 months to complete.

6 Throughout the process, we receive progress reports from our partners to ensure the program is on time and on track with the budget.

7 Water committees are trained to operate and maintain each well, while every community receives thorough training in water, hygiene, and sanitation.

8 Maintenance funds are also established for each community to ensure the long-term sustainability of the wells.

9 Partners complete training and construction at each site. Training and maintenance are the most important factors in the lasting sustainability of the wells.

10 Water to Thrive receives completion reports that include photos, GPS coordinates, and beneficiary information.

11 We carefully review every completion report to ensure each project was completed within the budget per the original proposal.

12 Once verified, we share the completion reports with the donors, supporters, and sponsors who made it all possible.
